Elaine Hamilton MS, MBA, CPNP, NNP-BC
Dr. Scott is a neonatal nurse practitioner (NNP) who has been involved in neonatal care as a staff nurse, transport nurse, educator, and clinician for more than 25 years. She is the coordinator for the advanced NNP service and the neonatal transport service for Pediatrix Medical Group of Tennessee in Nashville. Dr. Scott is also an Assistant Professor of Nursing at Vanderbilt University School of Nursing in Nashville, Tennessee. She is a member of the Tennessee Initiative for Perinatal Quality Care as the Infant Project Quality Improvement Specialist. Dr. Scott served on the Tennessee Perinatal Advisory Committee Workgroup for Guidelines and Level of Care, Perinatal Transportation, and Educational Objectives for Nurses in Level I, II, III, IV and Neonatal Transport Nurses. She has been a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead Instructor since 1999 and since 2006, a certified S.T.A.B.L.E. National Faculty member for training Lead Instructors. In addition, she has been an invited Content Reviewer of the 2006 and 2013 S.T.A.B.L.E. Program Learner Manuals. Dr. Scott is an experienced presenter who brings enthusiasm and compassion for improving neonatal outcomes, through education, to the classroom.
Ms. Cross is a NNP who has been involved in neonatal care as a staff nurse, clinician, research assistant, and educator for more than 25 years. In addition to her clinical work, Ms. Cross is an adjunct faculty member for Baylor College of Medicine in Houston, Texas. She collaborated as an author, reviewer and consultant for the Mosby Nursing Skills on-line education materials and she is past co-editor for the American Academy of Pediatrics Transport Medicine Section newsletter. Trained in Simulation Methodology, she is actively involved as a simulation instructor at the renowned simulation center at Texas Children’s Hospital in Houston. She has been a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead Instructor since 2000 and in 2014, she became certified as a S.T.A.B.L.E. National Faculty Member for training Lead Instructors. Ms. Cross is an experienced presenter who has all of the attributes most appreciated by students; she is personable, knowledgeable, enthusiastic and organized.
Dr. Price-Douglas is a NNP who has been involved in neonatal care as a transport nurse, clinician, and educator for more than 30 years. She is the coordinator of the Maryland Regional Neonatal Transport Program in Baltimore, MD, past National Association of Neonatal Nurses (NANN) liaison for affiliate members in the American Academy of Pediatrics Section on Transport Medicine, author of the NANN Neonatal Nursing Transport Standards (2010, 3rd ed.), and past NANN liaison of the Commission on Accreditation of Medical Transport Systems. She has been an invited Content Reviewer of the 2006 and 2013 S.T.A.B.L.E. Program Learner Manuals. In addition, she is the author of numerous articles and is frequently involved in conference planning. Dr. Price-Douglas has been a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead Instructor since 1999 and in 2014, she became certified as a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead Instructor Trainer. Dr. Price-Douglas is an experienced, knowledgeable, personable, and well-respected presenter at neonatal meetings.
Elaine R. Hamilton, MS, MBA, CPNP, NNP-BC

Elaine Rhine Hamilton has been a nurse practitioner for over thirty years. She spent four years with the Public Health Service providing care to underserved populations, then came to the Navy as the first Pediatric Nurse Practitioner at the Naval Medical Center San Diego. During her time with the Navy she has been instrumental in expanding the role of the PNP from simple well childcare to include acute care, subspecialty care and inpatient pediatrics. She was the coordinator for the newborn metabolic screening program and an IBCLC lactation consultant. Ms. Hamilton formed, and was President of Pacific Nurse Practitioners, a San Diego based corporation contracting nurse practitioners to private firms and military installations. During that time, she and her colleagues published Pediatric Protocols of Practice written to meet the California BRN standards for care by NP’s, and which, in turn became a resource for multiple university RN & NP programs. She is currently working as a neonatal nurse practitioner at Naval Hospital Camp Pendleton in California. Elaine has been a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead instructor since 2010, and in 2019, she became certified as a S.T.A.B.L.E. Lead instructor Trainer. Ms. Hamilton brings her gift for teaching and making difficult concepts easy to understand to students of all levels.
